Recommended, but not required: Work with your child to establish an email account they can use that is appropriate without providing personal information, such as their name and birthdate. We suggest helping students to think long-term by asking how the email username would look if it were to appear on a resume? It is also strongly recommended that, as a parent, you maintain the login/password for the account so that you have it for monitoring purposes because this can be an email account they have for years to come.
