

An Engaged Parent
At Hal Hutchens Elementary School
we believe parent engagement is:

Communication:

- Read, sign, and return daily/weekly communication
- Read with your child to show that reading is important

Support:

- Attend conferences and parent/teacher meetings
- Use suggested strategies to support student's academic progress/goals

Partners:

- Parents and teachers work together to establish student goals
- Parents and teachers attend and participate in school events

Communication + Support =
Partners

How Can the Parent Resource Center Benefit You?

Our goal is to provide families with information and resources that support student achievement.

We provide support for reading and math skills, homework, study strategies, social skills, and parenting tips. All materials are available for checkout. We encourage parents to use resources for a few weeks before returning them. The Parent Resource Center also contains free curriculum and community resources.

The best part is that all these resources are available for you to use FREE of charge!

What is a Parent Resource Center?

The Parent Resource Center is funded by the Title I Program. Our resource center is available to all Hal Hutchens Elementary School parents, grandparents, guardians and teachers. It is a lending library designed to bridge the connection between school and home by assisting families in providing ways to help their student succeed in academics at school.
